

There you have it! A high poly model ready for materials (color, texture).

"It looks so complicated. I can never learn this!"

Sure you can.

There's a bit of what we in teaching call a "steep learning curve", but it's not a high curve. You might be confused for a short time but you'll fast get the hang of it and enjoy creating your own 3D characters.