HUMAN SKULL

The human skull is generally considered to consist of twenty-two bones—eight cranial bones and fourteen facial skeleton bones. In the neurocranium these are the occipital bone, two temporal bones, two parietal bones, the sphenoid, ethmoid and frontal bones.

CRANIUM

SUPRA ORBITAL RIDGES

ORBITS

NASAL CAVITY

TEMPLE

ZYGOMATIC ARCH

MAXILLA

RAMUS

MANDIBLE

Modeling Sequence